

Industrial shredding specialist UNTHA UK is finalising plans for its 2016 roadshow of events.

The popular waste, recycling and alternative fuel production experts are always seen at exhibitions and conferences throughout the country. But this year, the calendar will look somewhat different for the well-known company.

For the next 12 months, instead of attending the industry's usual trade shows, UNTHA UK will host its own roadshow of events with the support of CIWM.

With exact dates, topics and locations soon to be confirmed, the programme will include a number of authoritative seminars, product demonstrations, case study site visits and panellist debates involving different industry professionals.

The first events on the calendar include:

- An advice-led webinar about the preventative maintenance of shredders, focusing specifically on best practice cutter refurbishment
- Live UK-wide demonstrations of UNTHA's new mobile waste shredder, where organisations will be able to trial the machine using their own materials
- A best practice webinar highlighting how to increase the profitability of WtE plants
- A practical WEEE and heavy metals recycling summit, with networking, at UNTHA UK's North Yorkshire headquarters.

A £100,000 refurbishment project is underway at UNTHA UK's test centre, to pave the way for the events that UNTHA will host itself. New conference room facilities will look out over a revamped demonstration hall, enabling attendees to see the shredders in action and trial the machinery using their own materials.

Chris explains: "This events calendar has been a long time in the making. In fact, it actually began in earnest in November 2015, when we began our XR mobil-e roadshow throughout the UK.

“We hope to see an array of faces, old and new, at the remainder of the 2016 events. We’re in the process of booking venues throughout the country, and will work through our team’s portfolio of expertise to ensure there’s something for everyone.

“Every event will be available on ‘catch up’ too, as we’re set to launch our very own UNTHA TV. It’s all part of our commitment to doing things a bit differently.

“So, whilst UNTHA UK won’t be at events such as RWM 2016, there will be plenty of exciting times and places to see us, in much more contextual environments.”
