We are pleased to announce another event in our series of talks called P3Connect (People, Planet, Prosperity), organised by the Centre for Environment and Sustainability at the University of Surrey, where we invite industry experts to share their experiences and insights in sustainability. By looking at the challenges, opportunities and solutions being considered by organisations, we will engender discussions that bring to the fore these current issues in the sustainability arena.

Join us to discover what Trewin Restorick has to say about living more sustainably following the key lessons from Hubbub's four years of behaviour change campaigns.

Trewin Restorick is Founder and CEO of the award-winning charity Hubbub UK www.hubbub.org.uk which transforms the way environmental messages are communicated by bringing people and organisations together as a force for good. He is also Chair of Student Hubs <http://www.studenthubs.org>

Previously Trewin created Global Action Plan, the UK's leading environmental behaviour change charity. As CEO he developed award winning sustainability partnerships with organisations such as BskyB, Barts NHS Trust and EON, as well as developing a wide range of successful environmental initiatives in schools and communities.

Trewin is a frequent commentator on environmental issues including regular slots in Business Green, Guardian Sustainable Business and Sky News, and has been trained by Al Gore as one of his climate change ambassadors. Before starting Global Action Plan, Trewin was Director of Fundraising at Friends of the Earth where he created PaperRound, London's leading community recycling business. Prior to Friends of the Earth, Trewin worked at Plymouth City Council and produced a youth TV programme for the BBC called Something Else.

Trewin is a supervisor on one of our industrial collaborative PhD projects for the Practitioner Doctorate in Sustainability Programme at the University of Surrey.
