

Jacqueline O'Donovan has been invited to take part in the stellar line-up at Ireland's leading premier SME conference called The Real Deal 2023. Jacqueline will take to the stage to share her entrepreneurial experience and achieved significant success in their respective businesses and industries.

Taking place on Wednesday, 3 May in Goffs, County Kildare, Ireland, the highly anticipated event will bring together over one thousand attendees in order to inspire Irish businesses and entrepreneurs who want to grow and learn from the best. The Real Deal 2023 aims to explore the theme of 'the art of what is possible' for Irish SMEs and inspire the next generation of business success stories. By bringing together successful business leaders, SME owners, managers and relevant advisors, Irish SME leadership should be inspired, and have the necessary roadmap and network, to go on and achieve great success.

Speaking of her involvement, Jacqueline commented: "I am delighted to be invited as a guest speaker at the Real Deal 2023. This premier conference will help ignite conversations and provide a platform to inspire progressive SME owners and leaders as they work to take their businesses to the next level."
